Most of us have someone or something to grieve most of the time. "In the world you will have tribulation. But take heart; I have overcome the world," Jesus said. We serve a Savior who wept at the death of people he loved (John 11:35). He lamented awful situations that would not change (Matt. 24:37-39). He knows how it feels to be us, and he wants to help (Heb. 4:14-16).

You don't have to go it alone.

And you can be better equipped to keep others from going it alone.

THE WORKSHOP IS FOR...

- You, if you are grieving now.
- You, if you will ever be grieving (you will).
- Your friends, if they are grieving now.
- Your friends, if they will ever be grieving (they will).
- You, if you want to be better at helping other people in their grief.

SPECIAL NOTES ABOUT SUNDAY

- At 9:00 adults and teens can choose the session in the auditorium on how to minister to the hurting or the session in the fellowship room on how to talk to children about grief and loss.
- We'll enjoy a potluck lunch together at 11:30.
- We'll finish our worship and study for the day with the last session at 1:00.
